

REDEEMING OLD BILLS.

Currency Sent to the Treasury Sometimes in Bad Condition.

Speaking about the fumigation of old bills which arrive at the Treasury Department from the New Orleans Sub-Treasury, Assistant Treasurer Melino said to a Star reporter to-day that this was absolutely necessary for the protection of the clerks who handle this old currency.

"These clerks," said Major Melino, "are constantly exposed to danger in the handling and counting of old currency. Sometimes the smell of these old bills is nauseating. I don't remember, however, a case where any clerk has ever been attacked by a disease from the handling of this money. This may be due to the fact that every precaution is taken. Whenever money has come here from points infected by contagious diseases it has always been fumigated. The clerks frequently wash their hands with disinfecting soaps and take other precautions. I consider that they have been remarkably fortunate."

There have been cases at the Treasury of money sent in for redemption in a terrible state. In several instances this money has been taken from the bodies of people found mysteriously murdered. The bodies lay for weeks or months without discovery until the clothing which contained the money would be alive with putrid matter. Money thus discovered is not handled by the authorities, but rushed to the Treasury for redemption. It is sometimes in such condition that the odor is almost unbearable. This is only one of many instances of a similar nature. Dogs and goats which swallow money are often killed, dissected and the remnants of the money sent to the Treasury for redemption.

This is the time of the year when money hidden away in stores is damaged by forgetful owners starting fires. They pick up what is left and send it here.—Washington Star.

The Figure of the Horse.

There are so many considerations that endear the noble horse to humanity and so many diverse are the channels of his usefulness that he is not liable to be easily displaced in favor with man, no matter what new forces may be utilized here and there.—Boston Globe.

Slain by Poison.

Not the poison that the covert assassin administers in the drink, the food, or some other guise, but the poison of malaria shortens the lives of myriads. There is a safe and certain antidote. NULLY MAKES CONFESSION

DEMON INCARNATE TELLS HOW HE KILLED HIS SISTERS.

HE WAS ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

His Four Victims Were Felled by Well Directed Blows From Keen Bladed Ax.

A special from Montreal, Canada, says: Thomas Nully, aged twenty-one, years, an elder brother of the three Nully girls and one boy, who were murdered near Rowdun Thursday, was arrested Saturday afternoon charged with having committed the crime.

He at once made a confession in which he acknowledged the awful deed. Nully was taken to Joliet jail Sunday.

Tom and the two older sisters had frequently quarreled, and it appears that on Thursday he had a row with the eldest girl, Elizabeth. Words had been succeeded by oaths and blows until Tom drove his sister out of the house. Then, according to the confession of the crime made by him, he followed her to the barn, threatening to murder her.

The second sister, Annie, arming herself with a keen-bladed ax, followed Tom, resolved to protect her sister from violence, even if she had to use the ax. Tom turned sharply around, and before she was aware of it, he came upon her. A brief struggle for the weapon was followed by Tom wrestling the ax from her hands and striking savagely at her neck. His woodman skill did not fail him. The keen weapon was buried in her neck and she fell dead just as the horrified Elizabeth ran up to see what had happened.

As Elizabeth turned to flee the murderer remembered her as the first cause of his crime, and resolved to carry out his original impulse of revenge. He chased the shrieking girl to the barn and struck her a blow with the ax, felling her as he had done poor Annie.

Tom then returned to the house and forced open the door, which the two other children had barricaded, and killed them as had the two others.

SHORTER HOURS OR LESS WAGES.

New England Cotton Men Want National Labor Law Enacted.

It is announced at Fall River, Mass., that all but one or possibly two cotton manufacturing corporations have signed an agreement to abide by the recommendations of a special committee of the Manufacturers' Association which has been appointed to take some steps for an improvement in the condition of the local cotton industry.

It is expected that a shut down or a decided reduction of wages will be advised. Some manufacturers are opposed to a shut down, urging that it will not improve affairs. They point out that Fall River no longer controls the markets and that it would simply allow mills in other states to meet the improved demand by running overtime.

This is particularly possible in the south, and the only remedy is believed to be in securing a national law governing hours of labor.

Some of the advocates of a cut down who are represented on the committee, favor a cut beginning with the treasurer and which apply to every employee.

WALERS ICE-BOUND.

Eight Vessels, With Many Souls on Board, Are Shut In.

A special from San Francisco says: The fact that eight whaling vessels are nipped in the ice at Point Barrow, with nearly 200 souls on board, is creating widespread apprehension along the coast and particularly among merchants engaged in the whaling business and among sailors and their families.

The anxiety has become so great that the trustees of the San Francisco chamber of commerce have determined to hold a meeting immediately for the purpose of formulating a telegraphic dispatch to be sent to the president of the United States urging him to dispatch a relief expedition to their rescue at the earliest possible moment.

GOLD MEDAL FOR GEORGIA.

Her Agricultural Display at Nashville Wins a Prize.

A gold medal has been awarded the state of Georgia for the general agricultural display made at the Tennessee Centennial.

The governor has received notification of this fact from the exposition authorities, accompanied by an order upon a Nashville jeweler for said gold medal, which will be delivered to the state upon payment of price of the same.

Gold medals, such as are awarded by the Tennessee Centennial, cost variously from $135 to $150 each. The state of Georgia can get just as fine a medal as she is willing to pay for.

ORDER AGAINST WEDDERBURN.

Postoffice Department Says Patent Attorney Is a Fraud.

A Washington special says: The postmaster general has issued a fraud order barring from the use of the mails John Wedderburn, John Wedderburn & Company, the National Recorder and the National Recorder Publishing company, of Washington city.

The order is the result of charges made by patent attorneys of Washington and other cities.

MRS. NACK CONFESSES.

She Tells How Thorn Murdered Guldensuppe and Disposed of Body.

There was an extraordinary turn of affairs Wednesday in the Thorn murder trial at Long Island City.

Mrs. Augusta Nack, who was indicted together with her erstwhile paramour, Martin Thorn, for the murder of her former lover, William Guldensuppe, for whom she deserted her legal husband, appeared in the role of a state's witness against Thorn, to the consternation of the latter's lawyers.

The woman recited in a dramatic manner the story of the assassination of Guldensuppe by Thorn, the dismemberment of the body, the part that she played in the tragedy and all relative incidents before and after the murder. Her story created the most intense sensation, and now the great murder mystery of the year is no longer a mystery, as one of the persons most interested has made clear what the court and all the evidence summoned would probably not have done had she not spoken.

The startling announcement made Tuesday that Mrs. Nack had confessed the murder of William Guldensuppe and implicated Martin Thorn was confirmed Wednesday morning when court assembled by Judge August A. Weller, who is assisting District Attorney Placed in the prosecution.

When placed on the witness stand Mrs. Nack said that she and Guldensuppe left New York between 9 and 10 o'clock the morning of June 25th, and after they had crossed the ferry they boarded a trolley car which left them at the Woodside cottage.

"I had the key to the house," she said, "and I opened the front door. I told Guldensuppe to enter and examine the house while I went into the yard. I went up stairs and I heard a shot. Martin Thorn came running down and when he met me he said: 'I've shot him; he is dead.'"

"He was very excited, and I was half dead, said the self confessed murderer, breathlessly.

"What did you do then?" asked Judge Weller.

"He asked me to go home and come back at 5 o'clock, when I came back that evening Thorn had everything packed in bundles. He handed me a bundle which he said contained Guldensuppe's clothes, and he took another bundle which was wrapped up in gray-colored paper. He said that it was Guldensuppe's head and that it was done up in plaster of paris. He took the trolley-car and went over to New York on a ferry boat. While crossing the river Thorn dropped his bundle overboard."

Mrs. Nack stated that she carried her bundle home and burned it.

The next day they went back to the cottage and found the other bundles still there. When leaving, Thorn carried one of the bundles with him, and they again crossed the ferry, when Thorn threw his bundle overboard, as on the day before.

CONSTABLE KILLS PREACHER.

Officer Suspected His Victim Was a Blockade Runner.

A Columbia, S. C., special says: It was supposed that when state constables were withdrawn, "except in the rural districts," there would be no more homicides by liquor detectives, but Wednesday night J. H. Turner, for many years a Baptist preacher and recently one of the most prominent business men in his county, lies dead with a bullet through his jugular vein.

The shooting was done by State Constable W. H. Newbold, a Texan, who has done government service in that state and Mexico, and was employed by Governor Tillman.

Turner was a delegate to the "good roads" convention which met at Columbia Thursday, and was driving to Spartanburg to take a Columbia train. When at Cedar Grove church two men called to him to halt. Before he could rein in his horse, two shots were fired, and he fell mortally wounded.

Newbold went to Spartanburg, and his lawyer, fearing violence, got him a private conveyance and started him out of town. He has not been heard of since.

It is supposed Turner was taken for a blockade runner.

Newbold's lawyer telegraphed that the detective held a pistol in each hand and they were accidentally discharged.

"It is a great pity," said Governor Ellerbe. I would not have given Newbold for the rest of the constable gang."

AGAINST DEMOCRATS.

Wood County, Ohio, Will Be Place In Republican Column.

A special from Columbus, O., says: The most important development in the status of the next general assembly Saturday was the decision in the Wood county case, which once more removes that county from the doubtful list to the republican column.

Chairman Nash does not believe the case will be appealed by the democrats, since the law in the case is plain.

There was some talk of an injunction against the supervisors, but it was not confirmed. Should no further change be made, the republicans will have five majority on joint ballot.

COAL TRUST WINS.

Court Decides that Its President Need Not Go Before a Referee.

A dispatch from Albany, N. Y., says: The appellate division of the third department has agreed with Judge Chester in vacating the order compelling the coal trust presidents to appear before a referee.

The question of the constitutionality of the law was not discussed except in Judge Landon's dissenting opinion.

A Famous Cat Painter.

In a beautiful house in Brussels there lives an old lady, Mme. Henrietta Ronner, whose work has won her fame and money. Like Rosa Bonheur, she is an animal painter, but instead of horses and cows, her specialty is cats. In the early part of the century her father, Joseph Augustus Knip, was well known in Amsterdam as a flower and landscape painter, and educated his daughter in art, according to the Chicago Record. Her destiny was to be that of a portrait painter, but she never liked it and determined to study animals. At the age of sixteen she exhibited at Dusseldorf the picture of "A Cat in the Window," which attracted much attention, but the picture which made her reputation was "The Friend of Man," a canvas six feet by eight, representing an old man weeping over the death of one of his dogs, which had been used for drawing a cart.

Very soon afterward she turned her attention to cats, and she has painted every form and attitude and character and kind of cat and kitten. The usual way that she works is by placing a cat in a glass case made for the purpose, with cushions which invite the animal to a natural position. Although seventy-three years of age, Mme. Ronner looks twenty years younger, save for her snowy white hair. What is most strange is the fact that one never sees a cat at Mme. Ronner's. Whenever she wants to paint one she has a model brought to her.

The Magnet in Surgery.

Not long since, while washing clothes, a young laundress thrust a broken needle into her hand. A surgeon who was consulted a few days afterward refused to operate, as the needle had disappeared, and he feared the necessity of making a number of incisions. After two months the girl lost the use of her right hand, a slight movement of the fingers causing exquisite pain. A feeble electro-magnet was then employed to draw the needle to a fleshy portion of the hand. Before the third trial the girl complained of a pricking in the palm near where the magnet had been applied. At the ninth sitting the needle came out broken end first and fixed itself to the magnet. There was no pain or loss of blood.

Postage Stamp Slot Machines.

The German Post-office Department has decided to introduce, experimentally, automatic stamp-selling machines. These machines were exhibited at the Berlin Industrial Exhibition last year. They will be placed at prominent points where the demands for stamps are the largest, and operate, on the deposit in the slot of the proper coin, to furnish the purchaser with the stamps desired.

A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE.

Heat, sense of tenderness and swelling of a part, are all indications that there is need of instant repair—the stitch in time. Where these symptoms exist on the left or the right side of the womb, disease of the ovary is setting in, and soon there will be, if there is not already established, a discharge, trifling at first, but later copious and irritating. Soon, also, there will be felt dull, dragging pains radiating from the ovary.

Do not, my sister, let your malady go so far, but those of you who are already suffering in this way should begin at once a course of treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will restore the organs to their normal condition.

In this connection Mrs. E. L. Myers, Quakake, Pa., says: "My ovaries were badly diseased, and for almost a year I suffered with severe burning pains which were almost unendurable, and a dull, heavy pain in the lower portion of my back. If standing I was most relieved with my foot resting on a stool or chair. The doctor told me I would have to take my bed and keep quiet. I had not used half a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before it worked wonders with me. I now owe my health to the Compound. To those who are suffering from diseases peculiar to women, I would say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just what they need."

Mrs. Pinkham wishes to befriend you, and if you will write her at Lynn, Mass., telling her just how you feel, she will give you the very best advice free of charge. Think what a privilege it is to be able to write to a woman who is learned in all these matters, and willing to advise you without charge.

Temperature of Food.

The temperature of the things we eat and drinks is hardly ever noticed; still, it is of considerable importance that food or drink should be of the right temperature. For healthy people hot articles of food should be served at a temperature about that of the blood, but for infants it is imperative that milk should be given at blood heat. Drinks intended to quench thirst are about right at a temperature of from 50 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Drink or food at extremely high or extremely low temperatures may do great damage, and are most harmful when swallowed rapidly. Drinking water is best taken at 55 degrees, seltzers and soda water should be slightly warmer and beer should not be cooled to more than 60 degrees; red wine is best at 65 degrees; white wine at 50; champagne is the one liquor which it best at the lowest temperature allowed, but should not be taken colder than 45 degrees. Coffee and tea should not be taken hotter than from 105 to 120 degrees; milk is considered cold at 60 degrees, when it will be found to have the best aroma.

The Expert and His Fees.

Expert testimony of all sorts in our courts has become disgraceful. The law in many states has now recognized the necessity of paying more than the ordinary witness fees to experts, so that there is a pecuniary recognition of its value. The three experts in the Barbieri trial in New York received from the county $7,250. The fees given experts yearly in any one of our large cities would probably pay twice over the annual salary of permanent experts, but at present there is nothing permanent about an expert but his fee.

MISSISSIPPI GIRLS

NOT AFRAID

Of Menstrual Labor

Crape, Miss., says: I have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine 18 years. It is the best of all Liver Regulators. It cures Sick Headache, and is a great deal more popular than "Black Draught" or any other Liver medicine in this country.

Menstrual Non-Appearance.

Absence of the flow may arise from some organic defects or from abnormal condition of the blood or nervous system. As the time approaches there are many symptoms that should be apparent to the intelligent woman. When they are tardy, the attempt to establish this function is attended with pain in the head, joints and back, chilliness, nausea and bloating of the abdomen. The treatment necessary is moderate outdoor exercise, the use of Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine to correct the action of the digestive organs and a dose twice a day for several weeks of that great uterine stimulant, Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine.

W. W. Graves

Postmaster, Merchants and First Assistant Principal, H. B. Brown, Normal High School, Fuller, Miss., writes: I am 35 years old, and my father, who died when he was 75 years old, had been using and selling Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine ever since I could remember. It does all that is claimed for it, and is as simple as sugar, flour and honey. I consider it much superior to "Zellin's Medicine," which I don't use at any price.

Girls Approaching Puberty

Frequently suffer from irritability, restlessness, smothering sensations, palpitation of heart, depression of spirits, nausea, constipation and sometimes fainting spells. Dr. Simmons Squaw Vine Wine, taken with the original Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine, quickly relieves these and other distressing symptoms, restores nature to its normal functions at the proper time. Look Out—Don't let the preparation called "Black Draught" come into your home on the fraudulent pretense of being "just the same" as Dr. M. A. L. M. M. M. "not" the same. If the component parts were the same there is as much difference between them as between day and night. Beware of all imitations.
